

IMPORTANT NOTICE: Pursuant to Public Chapter 1029, operators of radiologic imaging and radiation therapy equipment in hospitals, outpatient diagnostic centers, recuperation centers, physicians' offices or any other setting for human subjects, will be required to become licensed by the Tennessee Board of Radiologic Imaging and Radiation Therapy. Although we are actively moving toward implementation of this new law, operators of radiologic imaging and radiation therapy equipment who are working in the following settings are not yet being licensed:

- Hospitals;
- Outpatient diagnostic centers;
- Recuperation centers; and
- Other settings for human subjects (that are not a physician's office).

Accordingly, if you are an x-ray operator working in one of these settings, please do not submit an application for licensure as we are not accepting applications at this time. We will continue to issue licenses to x-ray operators in physician's offices in accordance with our current application process.

Please check back soon for more information.
